Sewing Machine Cover Instructions

Things you will need:
Tape Measure
Scissors
Sewing Machine
3-4 different fabric prints
Backing, Fusible fabric, stiff material with starch

1. Measure your machine's width, length, and height. Including the flywheel, handle and anything sticking above and out the sides of the machine.

2. Add ½ inch seam allowance to all pieces.

3. When cutting the main fabric cover piece use the Width + Length + Height(x2), subtract 4 inches from the measurement length to allow for the bottom horizontal strip of fabric.

4. Hoop and embroider all pieces you want to have embroidery. You will want to embroider your pieces before cutting them out. Press the material before continuing to the next step.

5. For the side panel, cut two pieces the width and height of the machine minus the 2 inches for the horizontal strip at the bottom.

6. The pockets are the width of the machine and the height you would like the pocket or pockets. The pocket liners are cut one inch longer than your pocket to make the topper. Don't forget to add the ½ inch seam.

7. With the right sides of the fabric together, sew the top of the pocket lining to the top of the pocket. Turn the fabric over and line the two bottoms together. Press the pocket down. This will make the topper of the pocket. Repeat for all pockets needed.

8. Lay your pocket pieces on top of the main side panels and pin in place. Stitch the sides and bottoms together.

9. Cut and sew the 2 ½ inch horizontal strips to the bottom of the main fabric cover piece and each side fabric. The measurements would be 2 lengths and 2 widths of the sewing machine.

10. Press the seams open as you sew.

11. Pin your side panels with the right side facing to your main side panel piece. Stich up one side, across the top and down the other side. Making sure your seams on the bottom 2 inch horizontal strip match as you sew.

12. Tip – Cut a slit in the top corners to allow for easier stitching around the corners.

13. Stitching the bottom edge can be done several ways.

- Fold it under and sew a blind stitch.

- Hem the bottom up using a decorative stitch.

- Use a simple stitch and glue a decorative ribbon on the outside with fabric glue to hide the stitch line.

You now have your finished Sewing Machine Cover!
